make coding education accessible and inclusive for all elementary students.

NOW, THEREFORE, for and in consideration of the foregoing premises and the terms and conditions herein set forth, the Parties agree as follows:

Article I. ONESANTA SPONSORSHIP AND PROGRAMME SCOPE AND DELIMITATION

This partnership between OneSanta and the Department of Education (DepEd) aims to introduce a Basic Coding Course for elementary students in grades 4 to 6, across both public and private schools for free. The initiative seeks to broaden the scope of coding education beyond the standard curriculum, offering young learners an accessible and flexible opportunity to develop their coding skills.

Rationale for Targeting Grades 4 to 6:

Upon thorough discussions with the DepEd team, it was determined that students in grades 1 to 3 might face challenges in understanding coding due to their developmental stage and language comprehension abilities. Therefore, focusing on students in grades 4 to 6 ensures that the programme is both suitable and effective, aligning with their cognitive development and readiness to learn coding skills.

Course Accessibility and Delivery:

The Basic Coding Course will be delivered online, enabling students to learn from various locations, such as their homes or libraries, provided they have internet access. By offering this after-school activity, OneSanta ensures the course is accessible and convenient, allowing students to engage with the material at their own pace and on their own schedules. This flexibility supports diverse learning environments and accommodates the varying needs of students.

Course Content and Structure:

The coding course will cover three main topics:

1. Basic Scratch
2. Advanced Scratch
3. Introduction to Machine Learning

The curriculum includes five lesson videos and four quizzes, designed to help students gauge their understanding and progress. The course aims to impart essential coding and programming skills, including:

- Understanding the basics of coding: logic, structure, and sequence
- Manipulating data using programming languages
- Developing problem-solving skills
- Learning how technologies communicate with each other

Educational Outcomes:

Upon completing the course, students will have a foundational understanding of computer science concepts and digital literacy. These skills are essential for solving complex real-world problems and serve as a foundation for future technological education and careers. This initiative not only equips students with valuable skills but also promotes innovation and enhances the overall quality of education.

Conclusion:

This partnership between OneSanta and DepEd represents a significant advancement in integrating essential 21st-century skills into the education system. By fostering collaboration between the private sector and the government, this initiative enhances educational opportunities and prepares students for future challenges, aiming to develop a generation of proficient problem solvers and innovators.
